Introduction:

I have 15 thousand followers. And I like to think I'm one of the people most qualified to write about BNWO. In the Inside Mari bonus notes, Shūzō Oshimi bemoans how he can never understand half of the world because he can never be a woman. I've seen both sides of this community; before I transitioned, I was a cuck, i.e. the target audience for BNWO, and after I transitioned I stopped being the target audience and became the producer of what I used to like. I've experienced what it's like to be the generic slop consumers and what it's like to be a very popular account. I know the whiteboy and snowbunny sides, and uniquely, I am popular. This is my retirement letter, my final statement as ytgirlhazel. I'm granted a level of transparency that has not been seen before in the community. This is my duty. This paper will be both a reflection on BNWO, and my long list of grievances with it that make me compelled to leave BNWO. As this paper is essentially a suicide note for the online persona of ytgirlhazel, I'm going to do the one thing that nobody in BNWO does. Break kayfabe.

BNWO is not real. Not all black guys are hung, white people aren't being "bred out of existence", and white guys don't all have micropenises. None of this shit is real. It's hot, so people want it to be real, but it isn't.

I can only say this because my livelihood doesn't depend on BNWO. I don't need to keep the illusion up so subs will let me pay my rent. I'm willing to acknowledge it's not real because I want to actually talk about BNWO. Nobody else seems to be talking about it so I will. This subculture's self reflection ends at "yea dude people are cucks ig lol" and it annoys the hell out of me. I've dedicated around a year and a half of my life to BNWO (even more if you count the time before I started making content) and I care about this shitty racist kink. So gather round, ye whitebois and snowbunnies, poor and plentiful. Let this humble captioner part the cum colored sea of porn brainfog for you, so you may understand why the hell you want a black guy to fuck your mom.

I am writing this with the assumption that the reader is in a BNWO community or otherwise familiar. I doubt anyone outside the sphere will find this paper anyways, but I will still make the effort to explain everything. I have also added a glossary to the back to help explain some terms in this paper if you get confused.

What is BNWO?

Ok. What the hell is this?

Well, BNWO stands for 'Black New World Order.' It harps on the idea of "New World Order" conspiracy theories, but instead of the rich elite or jewish people doing it, its black people and unorganized¹. In practice, this means that black guys are basically sex gods with 12 inch dicks who can get any girl they want, while white guys all have 2 inch micropenises and suck at sexual activities. There's levels to this; at the base level of just believing black guys are better at sex stuff and more animalistic², while the more extreme levels talk about black guys like they're a race of Yujiro Hanmas. To simplify, it's Omegaverse. Black people (I say Black people instead of black men, but BNWO basically completely ignores Black Women) are the breeding alphas who are naturally dominant and white people are the natural submissives. The perspective of BNWO is almost always from white male cucks, where they're being cucked or feminized or generally doing a submissive act. A black guy fucking your girlfriend/sister/mother, really any girl you know. It is primarily a cuckold kink with a bit more spice.

Now, when you think of someone who is described with a term that means they want to constantly get fucked by black guys, you wouldn't assume they're dominant, right? But BNWO isn't really the Black New World Order, it's closer to a Snowbunny New World Order. The only reason it's even BNWO is because there were a lot of white cucks and they needed an immutable difference between themselves and the ones that were cucking them, so race. But as you can imagine, most white cucks are straight and aren't attracted to dudes. They still like women. So while they're submissive to the idea of black men, they're only submissive in reality to women, and women in BNWO have to be snowbunnies³.

¹ I say this, but as there is lots of BNWO content, there is probably porn and people whose form of BNWO is an elite organized group. Because of the nature of BNWO, I can make almost any claim about it and it will apply to at least one person, so when I make a statement about it, assume I am talking about what the majority of people believe.

² Even though BNWO accounts try to promote themselves as 'anti-racist,' they often treat black people (especially men) the same way people did during slavery times. Black guys are super strong and meant for breeding but are also violent and not as intelligent. Even if the 'not being as smart' thing isn't explicitly stated, it's an underlying theme in most of the porn. I'll give the content creators the benefit of the doubt though, I doubt many are making captions with the intention of making the black guys seem dumb.

Ok. So you understand what BNWO is, right? But why would somebody be into this? Well, because of hate. Mostly themselves, sometimes others. Most kinks can be boiled down to wanting to be weak. To quote Twitter user @junestrings, “so so much kink stuff is basically ‘yes! yes! my helpless ego is getting what it deserves! look at that helpless squirming thing! im free for a moment!’ when you cook it down.”⁴ Most kinks are about wanting to be weak, to not have to make as many decisions. The idea that someone is naturally bad, that no matter what they do they will be in the wrong, is comforting. Because if you can never be good, you don't need to try to be. You get to be bad and pathetic. This applies to being cucked easily. I'll be brutally honest, if you're into BNWO you probably are unable to get girls, or you want to be cucked, or something or another. So the idea that you don't even need to bother with sex and the wooing process is comforting. An issue you don't need to deal with. So basically, people like BNWO because for some reason they are unhappy about a sexual or romantic issue they have so they say that they have this issue because of an innate, unchangeable trait so they can romanticize and give into this issue instead of trying to change it. All of this is from the perspective of a white guy into this kink, and while this is the vast majority of people into it are white guys, I do need to touch on other perspectives.

Money is undeniably the largest part of modern day BNWO. We go later into how this affects the kink, but it essentially means that most women (or fem presenting people, theres a fair amount of femboy findoms) in this kink aren't in it necessarily for the love of the kink, but for money. Now, I think to properly talk about this, I need to analyze myself, as I am a female findom. I don't like money. Is that shocking? People sending me hundreds of dollars on Throne makes me feel nothing. I'm a trust fund kid, so I've never cared for money. I'm also a socialist,. So I am not a typical findom, and I have no qualms about insulting the lot of us. I do feel like this is important to mention because I do not understand the urge for money. For most people, getting

5 thousand dollars would moderately change their life, or at least a few weeks or months of it. For me, I could get 100 thousand dollars and I'd probably forget it happened an hour later. Now, with my personal biases out of the way, let me start the talk about findoms proper.

I hate pretty much all of them.

Let me elaborate. Findom itself is neutral to me, I'm not someone who hates findom irrationally. I don't think there's any kinks I hate intrinsically (without counting the obvious illegal ones, if those even count as kinks). Even ones I don't enjoy like vore or scat, I'm ultimately of the mindset of "Hey, if you like it, I guess...". But BNWO Findoms, I hate. So much. Because most do not truly care about the BNWO. For example, the two biggest findoms (and arguably the best known figures in BNWO historically) are Cecefem (now known as @BNWOSnow) and Meiji (Also known as bullyqueen, has since retired) both didn't believe in BNWO. Cecefem has a lot of information out there, if you want to know more just look her name up. I'd argue that most findoms are the same, because ultimately, so little of BNWO appeals to them. 99.9% of BNWO is assuming that the reader is a white man, so really, why would women be into this? There are obvious exceptions, but most women who are in BNWO simply enjoy dominating and use BNWO as a framing device. And because, BNWO is a kink about self hatred. It is easy to get money from self hating and sexually frustrated men. And there is a lot of easy money. I'd estimate millions are floating around in BNWO, considering the amount of domme accounts that have made good money off BNWO. There's lots of accounts that haven't broken 3 thousand followers that have made upwards of 6 figures from this. So who wouldn't want to take advantage of it? They think everyone in BNWO is a weirdo anyways, so why not scam some weird racist losers?

Why Are So Many Trans Women Into This?

I think it is important to immediately start this section with a clarification. Trans women are women, Trans men are men, Trans rights are human rights. Just so we're all on the same page here. If you're a chud, please educate yourself and become a better person.

And now, the second matter of importance is what actually makes somebody transgender. There are lots of viewpoints on this matter that I don't have the time to evaluate, but there are two main camps. The first (There isn't a widely accepted term for this group aside from 'Tucutes') is generally of the belief that if you want to be trans and call yourself a girl, then you are trans. The second (Commonly called "Truscum") is of the belief that you must experience gender dysphoria and want to medically transition to be trans. This is a heavily debated issue in the trans community and I don't plan to go too in depth here as I don't think it's needed. Personally, I would describe myself as the second group and believe that you must actively want to medically transition to be transgender, but for this essay, I'll be using the beliefs of the first group. I think that if someone, given the choice of being called she/her instead of he/him in an anonymous online space, picks she/her, then that in some small part signals them being transgender, even if they don't have plans to medically transition.

Ok, now that we can have a reasonable discussion. There are a lot of trans women into this kink. In my own BNWO discord server, around 14% of all members are reportedly transgender. This is in stark contrast to the widely reported percent of transgender people in the world, normally estimated at a high of .6% (I got this number from wikipedia). So that means that at least in my server, there are 2333% more trans people than would be estimated. That's odd, no? Especially considering that as we have stated before, the majority of content in BNWO is targeted at men. Most captions or posts call the viewer "whiteboi" or some other male only term. Well, it's because of two main factors. BNWO being a (typically) anonymous space, and the dynamic of white and black men inside BNWO.

I think the first thing to get out of the way is that BNWO is online. It's not connected to your real self. Obviously some people choose to post themselves or engage in blackmail play, but for the most part, if you want to be anonymous, you will be⁵. Being transgender is also potentially dangerous depending on where you live, but almost always will make your social standing worse. Most people do not like transgender people so societal pressures makes a lot of people not present as trans, or repress the urge to transition. But generally, online people care less, especially in porn spheres. Now, it's not necessarily for the best reason (There is a reason why most people's first exposure to trans people is porn) but if you are accepted and won't be judged for something in a certain sphere, why would you hide it in that sphere? BNWO, for all its faults, is generally welcoming of transgender people. Also I should clarify, I mainly mean MTF Transgender woman. I've personally only met one FTM Transgender man in BNWO, and because of how much emphasis in BNWO is on dicks, I seriously doubt most of BNWO would appeal to them.

Before, we've touched on the dynamics before between white and black men, and this dynamic is partially why there're so many trans women into BNWO. The intrinsic, genetic divide. Black men are every manly thing you can think of, and white men are the opposite. So, going to the natural conclusion, Black men are men, and white men aren't. Again, the omegaverse comparison. Black men are alphas and dominant and full of testosterone, while white men are omegas who can't breed and are feminine. In addition, there is a large heaping of misogyny. Femininity is often seen as submissive and lesser. BNWO, as we have discussed before, is mainly about degrading white guys, and what's more degrading than not even being a guy? Force feminization (or even just normal feminization) is a fairly big kink even outside of BNWO. For example, the subreddit r/ForcedFeminization has 278 thousand weekly visitors. It's similar to what we discussed before about how a large part of BNWO is the appeal of being able to give up. The whole "You will never be as good as a black guy, so why bother?" thing, but with gender. Being a man, there are certain expectations you must live up to. But if you aren't a man, you don't need to live up to them. Now, I feel obligated to add, there is a lot of misogyny involved with feminization kinks. I am not saying that all trans women are misogynists, but I am saying that there are both people who only enjoy the idea of becoming transgender in a sexual sense. I doubt that all 278 thousand members of r/ForcedFeminization are all transgender. What I am saying is that in BNWO, trans women enjoy the acceptance that the sphere provides and that they no longer have to live up to any expectations of what being a man entails, and that a group of people who only sexually enjoy feminization but aren't transgender enjoy BNWO for the same reasons. In essence, trans women are into BNWO half because it's a place that accepts them, and half because it sexualises femininity.

Now, this chapter has trans women in the title, but I do want to share a few thoughts about FTM Trans men and their role in the BNWO. Well, their lack of role. Large parts of BNWO boil down to "your dick size determines your worth." But, trans men don't have dicks, and also don't fit the role that people who don't have a penis in BNWO fulfill. On my twitter, I asked for the opinions of trans men and why they like BNWO, and got no responses. In addition, nonbinary people can really have any role in BNWO. I've also seen many nonbinary cucks, and a fair amount of nonbinary doms⁶. I could write a whole other essay about being nonbinary and its relation to how people express their gender, I could, but I really don't have the time to. I think in some part, how nonbinary people express their gender does have an impact on if they play a role similar to white guys or white women, but I think it would mostly boil down to "Subs are closer to the guys, doms are closer to the women and/or black guys."

⁶ Gender is, at the end of the day, pretty much made up. BNWO has to somewhat conform to typical gender roles. Even though I call myself a trans woman, if I'm being honest my own gender is confusing and is too complicated to talk about in a footnote. Everything's fake at the end of the day, so who cares. BNWO doesn't make room for people who use any/all or it/its or any of that other woke stuff. It's almost like BNWO is reliant on outdated systems of thought about society.

What is Extreme BNWO?

Despite being named “Extreme BNWO,” Extreme BNWO (Or simply ‘Extreme’) is not BNWO. The BNWO facade that Extreme has is just set dressing. Extreme is a sadism kink that needs to be socially acceptable so it wears the skin of BNWO.

Well now, that’s quite a lot. But what actually is Extreme. BNWO is, in large parts, about hating white people. Most of the time, this ends at just being mean to them. Cucking them, taking their money, sex stuff basically. But what if you wanted to do more? What if you wanted to hate them, *Extremely*⁷? Well, you’d want to get violent. Instead of a split screen showing a egirl dancing and a interracial sex, it’s of a white guy getting beat up (This is known as a Whiteboy beatdown, or WBBDD). There’s generally two main types of Extreme content, harm on other people and harm on yourself. The ‘harm on others’ version typically consists of people being beat up and/or dying. Sometimes it’s implied (A somewhat common idea is [girl] rewarding the black guy who murdered [guy she has a relation to, sometimes the viewer]) and other times is just a video of someone being killed. From what I’ve seen, there’s two main appeals to this first type. The first is obviously, the taboo. Jacking off to gore is ridiculous. I’ll say that as someone who does get off to gore, nobody should be getting off to gore. It is wrong, and that’s why some people like it. There is a similar kink (well, paraphilia, to be specific) that I will talk about later that has the same reasoning behind it. The second reason is that it is an escalation of normal BNWO. If your sexual fantasy is about hating white people, well then you probably want really bad things done to white people. It’s simply escalation. Just normal cucking doesn’t do it for you anymore, so you need more. The other type of Extreme content, ‘harm on yourself,’ should also be somewhat self explanatory. I think that more than the first type, that this is the true natural escalation of BNWO. It’s fundamentally a kink about hating yourself, to some extent. And things like cutting or suicide are things people who hate themselves do. Most of this type of porn is encouraging the viewer to kill or hurt themselves. Cutting is a fairly common activity in Extreme, to the point that someone making a sub cut doesn't shock me at all anymore. It's oftentimes paired with real footage of people hurting or killing themselves, and encouraging the viewer to do the same. A common trope is breathplay, making the viewer hold their breath to simulate hanging. Most of this content is locked behind paywalled channels in discord servers (While I know there are other platforms such as Signal or Telegram that are used for sharing Extreme, I've personally never used them. Twitter and Discord are the most popular but I do feel it is worth pointing out). Twitter is weird with their moderation sometimes, and while they often allow the 'harm on others' category, they basically never allow the 'harm on yourself,' to the point that even censored content often gets banned. Even the Booru (A booru is basically just an imageboard for a specific thing) for Blacked doesn't allow "Extreme" as described here. It allows killing and snuff hentai but no actual suicide encouragement.

Now, hearing all this, you are still probably asking yourself "How do people even watch that?" and I do think that's a valid question. The majority of the planet does not enjoy gore, so the concept of someone not only willingly watching it but sexually enjoying it. The answer, or at least why I ended up sexually enjoying it, is because BNWO is a Ouroborus. BNWO is almost centered around escalation. You start just thinking cheating is hot, but then you need more spice so you get into raceplay. But then it keeps going and going and going. Extreme is, to an extent, the endpoint of BNWO. When I saw my first Extreme video with someone dying (Thanks, Cecefem!) I hated it. It hung over my thoughts for the days following it. I wish I never saw it. Maybe if I didn't, I wouldn't be in the spot of needing to write this essay. But time passed, a few months, and I wanted to see more. Seeing something so shocking, so wrong, it's weirdly addicting. So I watched another video. And then it hung over my thoughts and made me depressed for some time again. But not as long, this time. This kept going until I was jacking off to websites that hosted gore. It's addicting. It's a cycle. Because where do you go after this? What kink could jacking off to gore feed into? Eventually, it stops being about BNWO. Extreme turns into a simple sadism kink, The pretense of someone being white is just justification to feel good about their suffering. Lots of Extreme content is barely even about BNWO, it's just an afterthought. "Oh you should hurt and kill yourself. Oh yea it's because you're white." Extreme is a weird amalgam of both BNWO and just normal sadism. You can tell when someone is into Extreme as an escalation of BNWO, and when someone just wants an excuse for their sadism.

Because at the end of the day, that's all that Extreme is. It's an excuse. What it's an excuse for depends on person to person, but there's not a person who can be into Extreme and not know it's wrong. Maybe it's the subs, who use it as a reason to get worse and hate themselves. It certainly was for me. I cut myself more often back when I was really into Extreme. Maybe it's an excuse for doms, who want a reason to do morally wrong things to people. I can't be all encompassing in this essay, but being into Extreme means there is something missing in your soul. You either hate yourself, hate other people, or don't care. I'm not sure which one I find the most deplorable.

I feel like it is worth talking about gore and death videos as a whole. What I will not be talking about however, is Snuff. Snuff films are a fairly popular term, but most people have never seen one. I'm deep in Extreme and BNWO and I haven't. A snuff film is a video where someone is killed for the explicit purpose of sexual enjoyment, which is very rare. They aren't the types of videos you see on Twitter randomly. I doubt a single Extreme edit has one⁸, so let's clarify that first. Now, onto the main point. Why do people like seeing people die outside of Extreme? Well, I think for two reasons. Again, the taboo, and second, the fact that it's people dying. I've already talked about the taboo before, but this time I'll talk about it nonsexually. Watching people die, that's weird. Normal people don't do that. It feels like being part of a special club. The second reason is the finality. Someone dying is the end. It's arguably the most important part of a person's life, so seeing it feels special. It can also just be amusing if it's dumb somehow; the most important moment of a person's life being funny is, well, funny. Morbid curiosity is undeniably a part of it, getting to see something so shunned and mysterious. I do think that the reasons people enjoy gore unsexually are the same reasons why people like

BNWO. There is an appealing taboo that makes you feel like part of a club, and finality. BNWO is paradoxically both a pseudo-accelerationist kink and an endpoint for many kinks. BNWO is about getting worse and worse, but BNWO, specifically Extreme, is the end. Right? Where do you go after Extreme?

Pedophilia

The endpoint of getting off to a taboo and morally wrong kink is naturally, getting off to an even more taboo and morally wrong “Kink.” Also, BNWO already has a fair amount of pedophilic undertones. It makes sense why a fair amount of people who are into Extreme are also pedophiles. Now, just to clarify before going into this section. Pedophilia is bad. I’m not defending anyone who watches CSAM or actually sexually interacts with children. I’m not taking a radqueer “oh no kids can totally consent you guys,” direction now, I’m not a retard. If you are a pedophile (and for clarifications sake for the rest of this section, when I say that, I mean someone who acts on it. If you’re just attracted but don’t do anything then I don’t really care. Just keep not doing shit.) please get help. I’m not going to say that you deserve to die or face jail time or anything exactly. Peace is the noblest pursuit, after all. But please change. Quit this shit. I don’t want to hate people but if you’re someone who owns illegal material or hell, engages in illegal activities, I will somewhat hate you. And I don’t want to. Please grow as a person, you’re only hurting yourself.

BNWO is, in some aspects, simply pedophilic in nature. Without even counting the escalating nature, BNWO is centered on various things that allude to pedophilia. The first is the general perception of white women in BNWO porn. White women are seen as a thing to be corrupted. It’s similar to a conservative and androcentric viewpoint of women, they are things to be protected from the evils of the world, except in BNWO you want them to be corrupted. Alongside this, lots of imagery around white women is almost childlike in nature. There’s countless captions of white women going to school or ‘the real world’ and then instantly having sex with black guys. Also, there are lots of captions of ‘your bully’ fucking someone close to you. And bullies don’t exactly exist outside of public education. BNWO is influenced a lot by anime/hentai, and in anime, high school is a dominant setting. Because of this, most romance animes (i.e. ‘Kaguya-sama: Love is War,’ ‘My Dress-Up Darling.’ and ‘Komi Can’t Communicate’) takes place in high school, and it seeps into BNWO by an ‘unspecified level of schooling’ being a common idea. Now, I’m not saying that if you’re into romcom anime that’s set in high school that you are a pedophile (That’d make a noninsignificant percent of the world pedophiles, as ‘Toradora!’ has 2.4 million logs on MyAnimeList.Com), what I am saying is that BNWO is a kink that wants itself to be real. It wants real celebrities to wear the Blacked bra, and that celebrates when streamers mention it. So it is a bit weird for the kink that sexualises becoming real to also sexualize high school, no? The last part of BNWO that is explicitly pedophilic is the feminization aspect and how white men are treated. We've discussed before how in BNWO, black men are supposed to represent everything masculine, and white men are supposed to be everything that isn't. This leads to feminization being a major theme, as we have again discussed before. Oftentimes though, this idea of feminization is fairly pedophilic from how it presents white men as looking almost prepubescent. It's a theme to start feminizing people from a young age and in an explicitly sexual context.

BNWO does also just encourage you to become a pedophile. The nature of BNWO is escalation, corruption, and becoming worse. But at the end of the day, BNWO is legal⁹. So, if you want to keep getting worse and more taboo, well, do I even have to say it? While there are other illegal and taboo kinks, they all pale in comparison to pedophilia. I feel like there are some arguments to be made for the other big paraphilias (Necrophilia does not harm any living creature, and Zoophilia is about as bad as eating meat, so it basically depends on your thoughts on that. And to be noted, I don't necessarily agree with these arguments, I'm just saying that people do indeed make them) but there is no real defense for pedophilia. So, if you are someone who enjoys taboos and already extreme content that would make most people hate you if they found out you were into it, well, of course you'd turn to pedophilia. I know that suggesting "If you are into gore videos you are likely to become a pedophile," may sound like an extreme claim, but I don't think it is. From what I've seen, most pedophiles don't even necessarily like kids, they more like the aesthetics and taboo of pedophilia. I think that in an alternate benjamin-button-esque universe where people aged in reverse, the same people who are pedophiles now would then be into old people. It's not necessarily about the physical part, it's more so that the aesthetic part informs the physical part. And I know again, this all sounds ridiculous, but I have a unique perspective here. I am a popular domme. I'm in the inner circle, so to say. And oh god there's so many pedophiles

⁹ BNWO's legal status is somewhat dubious. A popular user by the name of Cecefem has gotten the police called on her for claiming to have made two people kill themselves. I do not know the full story, but I know that her phone got taken and I do not think she was arrested or charged with any crimes. BNWO is a mess of gossip and drama, I am simply trying my best to document whatever I can. The only other instance of BNWO being involved with the law is a police force sending emails to people in a certain BNWO discord server where the head claimed to have made someone kill themselves. Nothing came of it, as far as I can tell. Essentially, normal BNWO is legal, extreme, I don't know. I think it's likely a case of Extreme not having a spotlight. If someone actually ever makes someone win and gets arrested for it, I think Extreme will basically be nuked off all platforms. I'm also not a lawyer. This is speculation.

Most of the big domme accounts that I know are pedophiles, and while I do not care about burning bridges, I would risk hurting people by mentioning specific names. So if you're expecting some big callout thread, this is not that. I'd say like 30% of all accounts with a significant (7k+) follower count are pedophiles. I have had multiple of these popular accounts directly ask me "Hey, Hazel, do you want to see [Illegal Content]?" I feel like I can't properly convey what it feels like to be casually asked if I want to see CSAM. I felt like I threw up in my mouth.

I think there is a direct correlation between BNWO and pedophilia. At least to me, it's undeniable. And it is part of why I'm writing this. I suffer from OCD, and in the past few months it has evolved into POCD (Pedophilia-themed OCD, having obsessive thoughts about the fear of becoming a pedophile) and it is part of why I have decided to leave. Being in a sphere that both indirectly and directly encourages pedophilia is not good for my mental health at all. And it's also not good for you. I am not saying that you, the reader, are a pedophile. But what I am saying is that you always have the chance to become one, no matter how small or unrealistic it may seem. Being in BNWO, particularly Extreme, is not good for you and can only hurt you. I'm writing this essay with you in mind, and I do not want you to have the same obsessive thoughts of hatred that I do. Because this is all real. Extreme, self hatred, the escalation to pedophilia, its all real. These aren't theoretical things, I've seen people become pedophiles here. And I don't want the same to happen to anyone else.

Has BNWO Become Real?

The common fantasy of BNWO is that it stops being a fantasy. That being blacked is socially acceptable, that Taylor Swift will go out on stage in those overpriced blacked bras and get fucked by a black guy. Let me first clarify, BNWO can never be real in that sense. I feel like that should be stated. The first female president won't have a spade tattoo. You might see videos of popular streamers talking about blacked or something, but you have to realize, that's not mainstream. Your mom doesn't know what "Queen of Spades" means. If you start jerking off to the 'Kaw' sound that crows make, people are going to think you're a zoophile. But people ignore that, because it's hot. To many people, BNWO has become mainstream. People in BNWO are isolated (Which is a reason I speculate they hate themselves and then get into BNWO and it repeats and y'know) so they view a porn model leaning into a porn kink as "Proof that BNWO is going mainstream!!!!" BNWO can never become mainstream, there will never be a new world order, but it can become real.

A somewhat common argument, and one I planned to write an essay on before is that "Raceplay is fine because it's not real." And normally, I would agree with this argument. In online fandom spaces, a large argument that takes place is Proship V.S. Antiship¹⁰. The terms were originally made for shipping debates but they've grown to generally be about dark and taboo things instead of just shipping. Proshippers believe that taboo things (Ie Incest or Abusive character shippings) are fine to enjoy, and that they do not effect reality. Antishippers believe the opposite, that taboo things are wrong to enjoy and can make you a worse person. The argument is usually about if these things can 'affect reality.' Will playing 'The Coffin of Andy and Lyley' make you want to fuck your sister? Well, no. If I want to get technical, this debate has been around since, well, forever. Maybe linking back to religion. But I do think that this would be a bad example simply due to the massive cultural and time difference, so I'll instead talk about the panic around video games causing violence in the late 1990s and early 2000s. To put it simply, people thought that violent video games like Grand Theft Auto would lead to real world violence, especially after a 15 year old that was ‘obsessed’ with Grand Theft Auto 3, Dustin Lynch, killed someone he was living with. The court decided that the game had nothing to do with the murders. And this has been the case in all similar legal proceedings. In the case Strickland v. Sony, attorney Jack Thompson argued that violent video games led to the 2003 Fayette Police Station Shooting. This case was decided 5-0 in favor of Sony. There is a legal precedent that fiction does not affect reality this way, and to be presumptuous, it's just common sense. At least to myself and the people I talk to, when I see a violent movie or play a FPS game, I don't get the urge to recreate any of it in real life. The only cases where dark and taboo fiction could affect someone and inspire them to do harmful things is when the person consuming the content is extremely mentally ill.

Most people deep in BNWO are extremely mentally ill. You need to be somewhat mentally ill to be into a kink that talks about black people like that. BNWO is centered around hating yourself, and that's not something that mentally stable people do. This is taken to a whole other level given Extreme. I can confidently say that no person who gets sexual enjoyment from gore is mentally stable and most likely should speak to someone¹¹. So let me present a scenario: You are a socially isolated person who hates themselves, who does not have much content with black people, and only really sees black people in porn that either makes them out to be brutish and animalistic or simply violent and irrational. If this was your only exposure, what would you think of black people? Well, that they're what the porn presents. So I do think that BNWO can make you a racist, or at least more racist. I have also talked to lots of people who are just extremely racist. I once talked to someone who said something along the lines of “I'm normally left leaning but when I look at BNWO porn I start thinking lots of bad things.” They also say the N word a lot, as a white person.

I think to even get into BNWO in the first place, before even the escalation that starts by mainly seeing black people through BNWO porn, you have to be somewhat racist. The common argument is that BNWO is just a kink. You don't have to think any of it is real, it's just a fetish and all (some) people into it know it's fake. I think a good comparison for this section is misogyny play. Basically saying that women are weak and naturally submissive and, well you know what misogyny is like. I don't know if I need to explain it. Most people into misogyny play however, aren't misogynist. In fact most of the people into it are women. So why does the same not apply to BNWO? If people can be into a kink that in the real world would be harmful and bad without actually believing it, why is this right not given to BNWO? Because the type of person to get into BNWO has to be somewhat racist. Buying into the fantasy of BNWO is much harder than buying into the fantasy of misogyny. To an extent, a lot of animals show some signs of misogyny. There are simply gender roles that exist in nature, and these are what informed current culture.¹² Racism however is purely a cultural thing. There is no actual basis for it. It could be said that racism was quite literally invented just to have slaves. There are real biological differences between men and women, the same can't be said for races. It's not a fantasy world where different races like elves and goblins and humans all have different abilities. Racism is inherently harmful, there can't be 'good' racism. So I think that to be able to suspend your disbelief and think "Yea, black people actually are super strong and manly and blah blah blah" you have to be a bit racist. In addition, as we have talked about before, BNWO is based on how slave owners talked about black men. By being in BNWO and promoting it in any form, you are echoing the same sentiments that slave owners did, whether consciously or not. There is no ethical way to consume BNWO. To get into BNWO, you have to be somewhat racist, and being in BNWO will only make you more racist. Simple as.

¹¹ I say this half as a joke and half seriously. I do honestly believe that if you enjoy Extreme, you should take a look at yourself. That's a large reason why I'm writing this. Maybe don't book a therapist and go “Yea I want to talk to someone about how I get off to raceplay and gore,” maybe just say you sexually enjoy things that you no longer want to enjoy.

In this way, BNWO has become real. Not real in the sense of "All white people are locked in chastity and legally forced to serve black people." BNWO is making itself real through the cycle we have talked about at length before. BNWO is about escalation, and it's becoming more popular. Racist beliefs are core to BNWO, and as BNWO gets more and more popular, those beliefs do become more mainstream and less taboo. The world that BNWO presents is becoming real to the people inside of it, and as it gets more and more popular, it will keep becoming more real. More people will become delusional, and this coincides with the current political climates. I don't think I even have to mention the current racist going ons in America, but it's everywhere now. BNWO is the most popular it's ever been, and I don't think the fact that some places are becoming more right wing and racist is totally uncorrelated. People in general are becoming more socially isolated, and this leads to people interacting with less people from different cultures, meaning the chances of someone's only exposure to black people being porn is even higher now than a few years ago. I think the current political climates and general social climates are making people more prone to falling into BNWO now more than almost any other time in recent memory. To get into BNWO you have to be socially isolated and somewhat racist. And both of those things are only increasingly becoming more mainstream.

¹² I am not defending misogyny. I'm not a moron. I'm just saying that misogyny makes more sense in a kink sphere than racism does.

Who do we blame this on?

You.

I hate BNWO. It's why I'm leaving. Because almost all of you are disgusting. You know BNWO is bad. It's racist, it encourages people to become delusional, it encourages people to ruin their lives. You're either retarded or excusing evil and I don't know which is worse. Maybe you've never really done anything. Maybe you're a private account with 0 followers, a complete lurker. You're still promoting this. You like tweets, you follow people, that makes this shit spread further. And I understand why. Even though I have written this whole essay, I think BNWO is hot. And I'm going to keep thinking it's hot even once I leave. But you know what I'm not going to do? Engage with BNWO at all. I'm going to let it die to me. Because engaging with it at all will simply hurt people. There's people who have gone into debt, ruined relationships, hurt themselves, all because of this kink. And you surely knew about it, even before this essay. But you just think it's hot so you go "OMG they ruined their lives for BNWO," while you cum or some shit.

To quote Suda51's Flower Sun and Rain, "A paradise is a place separated from the world." To me, BNWO was a paradise. Because BNWO wasn't real. It didn't function by the same rules the real world did. As much as BNWO wants to be real, it can never be real. BNWO will never be part of the world. And it's fine to stay in paradise for a while. To be honest, I might have died if not for BNWO. But staying here will kill you. Maybe not physically, but you will be a worse person. All the big domme accounts and captioners? Most of them don't even like BNWO and are just in it for the money. And just by being here, you'll help these frauds. BNWO is only going to get more and more popular and more and more worse. And you're part of that reason why. Maybe you're 0.0000001% of the cause. But you're still a part of the cause. There's tens of thousands of people who just call this a guilty pleasure but you still hurt people, no matter how innocent you think you are. You are part of the reason people end up cutting themselves. You are part of the reason why people become pedophiles. You are part of the reason why people ruin their lives. You in some part caused all of that. And I hope you carry that weight. Kill the past. Kill the BNWO.

A Suicide Note for ytgirlhazel

Have you ever read Aku no Hana? By Shūzō Oshimi? You probably haven't. To make a long story short, it's about reaching 'The Other Side.' Now, what's The Other Side, I hear you asking. It's vague. It's that feeling of 'Getting It,' that feeling of knowing something nobody else does, that feeling of being special. I felt the same. For a long time, I believed that reality was a story written by an author; that I was the protagonist, the only conscious human, and that everything that existed in the world was for me. And that's part of why I became ytgirlhazel. Because I wanted to reject normality. I hated normal people, I hated people going about their lives not thinking about themselves, not wanting to get better, not wanting to reach The Other Side. What's a better rejection of reality than basing yourself around a fake reality? I never believed BNWO was real, that black guys were sex gods, and that all white guys were cucks. It's a complete fiction. And that's why I loved it. Because I hated this normal reality. But along the way, I realized. I wanted to be normal. I made friends, friends that I could not write off as unconscious npc's. I learned I wasn't gods chosen. I had to finally break down my main character syndrome. Because I'm not special, none of us are. You're someone into a weird kink. How unique. You're just like everyone else you know. But I want to be normal now. Trying to be an absolute pervert isn't appealing anymore. It's how Flowers of Evil ends. Nakamura, the character obsessed with reaching The Other Side, finally achieves peace leading a normal life. That's how you become happy, that's how you truly reach The Other Side. Not by rejecting reality, but by embracing it and learning to deal with all it entails. And I'm ready to become normal. The name ytgirlhazel is just a burden to me now. I don't need it anymore. It has helped me, in fact I might not be alive if I never became ytgirlhazel. But I've simply outgrown it. In order to become happy, to become normal, to reach The Other Side, I need to get rid of it. So that's what I'm doing. And that's my advice to all of you. I don't care if you're a dom account, some reposter, a lurker, all of you. Leave. BNWO isn't real, but you must already know that. How could you not? You're denying yourself The Other Side by staying here. You're killing your character growth. You will never become the full version of you here. Better yourself. That is my last plea to all. Goodbye, and best regards, Hazel.
