

Stage 2 Plot Draft

MAIN SYNOPSIS, by Soyscreenwriter

The movie opens with Nate getting ready for school. He calls Chud and the two talk while making their way over. Exposition and worldbuilding goes here. Eventually Chuds' call gets interrupted, which prompts Nate to begin walking faster. When he makes it to school, Chud is being interrogated by bald, sunglasses wearing, men in suits. When Nate goes to question them, he is recognized and led to a van. He attempts to run but is grabbed and thrown in the back. From outside he hears a struggle, and when the door opens Chud stands before him, bloodied and holding a pocket knife. Nate hears a distinctly male sounding scream from behind him, and turns around to see Troonella. Troonella begs to not be left alone, and Nate takes pity on xhim, to the dismay of Chud.

Before any of them can formulate a plan, more feds arrive and the 'teens are forced to flee. A car chase ensues, with the 'teens narrowly escaping by hiding in the sewer. Chud noticed the 'Soysylum' logo on the van, and determines that the CIA must be kidnapping soyteens in order to doom the white race. Troonella dismisses the entire thing as nonsense because xhe only uses the soyjak party to post bait. Nate on the other hand realizes that if all three of them use the sharty, then that only further proves chud's point. Nate determines that the three of them must infiltrate the CIA headquarters in order to gain more information on this 'Soysylum project'.

Since Chud is covered in blood and his house is most likely already swarming with feds. And since Troonella is homeless without a car, the group determines that Nates house is the only safe place left. They travel through the sewers and eventually make it without issue. Nate knocks on the door and is let in by his mother. Nate asks his mother for the car keys, and we have a heartfelt moment between Nate and his family, eventually though ever he is forced to say goodbye. Troonella, Chud, and Nate all get into the car and drive off towards the CIA headquarters.

In the car, all three of the 'teens talk about how they discovered the sharty. We get glimpses into their pasts, as well as their motivations.

After a long drive, the trio finally arrives. Chud and Troonella argue over who's better at LARPing, meanwhile Nate attempts to come up with a plan that won't get everyone killed. Nate asks to see Chuds' knife, and asks Troonella if xhe has a rope, to which the answer is yes. Nate combines the objects to create a makeshift grappling hook. After sneaking to the other side of the complex, Nate scales the building and makes it to the rooftop. After helping Chud and Troonella up, they crawl into the vents and eventually wind up in a supply closet. Chud cleans himself off, and dons a spare suit and tie. Troonella ties ximself and Nate up, before they venture into wider building. Once outside the closet, Chud locates the nearest important looking figure and declares that he has captured two soyteens. The federal agent appears bored, and informs them that they are to be taken to the Soysylum and gives chud its location. However, he soon recognizes Nate, and tells Chud to take him to the honeypot department.

When they arrive, the department is empty. Both Chud and Troonella assume the jannies must be on lunch break and tell Nate to stand guard. Each of them then turn on a computer and begin typing. Everything goes fine at first, but before long the TV behind them turns on. Nate calls out to everyone to "SHUT IT DOWN, DOCTOSSSS!" before Dr. Soyberg appears on the TV. Soyberg congratulates Chud on capturing Nate, and promises him a handsome reward. Soyberg also informs the 'teens that Agent 'Plier will be coming to collect Nate personally. The doctor tells Chud to do whatever he likes with Troonella, and hangs up.

Nate starts to consider turning himself in so that he can get into the Soysylum and let in Chud and Troonella from inside, but this idea is quickly shot down. Instead, Troonella beckons them over to a computer, which contains a list of all Soysylum employees. Among them lies a familiar face, Thomas Albin, AKA Doll. Since he was a former admin, the trio decides he is their best bet for getting into the Soysylum stealthily. On their way out, Chud takes a detour to the armory, and returns with an AR-15. This maneuver would prove to be a blunder, as by the time the 'teens make it outside Agent 'Plier is already waiting for them. 'Plier sees through chud's disguise instantly, and opens fire. The trio is forced to take cover behind one of the trucks. While Troonella unties herself and Nate, Chud lays down suppressive fire. Soon, both Chud and 'Plier run out of ammo and begin charging at one another. Meanwhile Nate breaks into a car and begins hot-wiring it using chud's knife. Troonella rushes as fast as xhe can to assist Chud, but is dispatched just as easily. Just as 'Plier is about to curbstomp Chud' face into the pavement, he is run over by Nate in his newly stolen vehicle. Chud and Troonella dive into the back as fast as they can, and they take off towards Doll's home.

When they arrive, it's in the middle of the night. Seeing as they haven't slept since leaving, the trio decides to get some rest. Nate has a strange dream about Admin Thrembo. When morning comes, Doll opens his door and is met with Nate, Chud, and Troonella standing before him. Doll invites them inside, and they explain their plight. After taking a moment to think, Doll comes up with a scheme to get the trio inside without raising the alarm. Doll explains that he used to be a night guard back when the Soysylum still had its "Free roam" policy for patients. However this policy was suspended due to the actions of Dr. Soystein. He now works as a forklift operator. Doll plans on smuggling in the 'teens through the guise of being a delivery of soylent. After getting inside, Doll will leave before everything goes to hell. The trio agrees to the plan, and once more they head out.

Eventually they arrive, Doll makes it past the security barricade surrounding the facility, and into the parking lot. The crate containing the 'teens is wheeled into the Soysylum's loading bay, and the trio is given the green light. Doll walks back to his car and attempts to drive off, only to be stopped by Agent 'Plier. 'Plier declares that the facility is under lockdown, and that nobody is to be allowed in or out. The 'teens watch this happen, and slowly make their way out of the crate. They quickly hatch a new plan of attack. Using a map of the Soysylum given to them by doll, the trio makes their way to an employee breakroom. In a flash, the 'teens rush into the room and make short work of the people inside.

Now wearing security guard uniforms, the trio splits up. Troonella makes xher way to the security room, while Nate and Chud look for Soyberg. On the way there, Chud encounters Agent 'Plier once again. While he puts up a fight, he is eventually overpowered. Chud gets thrown into a cell, but bounces back and unloads his rifle into Agent 'Plier. However instead of dying, 'Plier takes off his suit to reveal his metal endoskeleton, before slamming the door on Chud and walking off.

Now alone in a padded cell, the ghost of Adolf Hitler appears before Chud. Adolf instructs Chud to find and kill Dr. E in order to save the white race. Chud looks around the cell for some way to escape, his gaze lingers on the air vent which he quickly shoots the cover off of before crawling in.

Inside the security room, Troonella sits alone. Suddenly xhe hears the discord notification sound effect. Xhe checks xer phone, and sees Alicia is calling xer. Troonella picks up, and Alicia asks xer to hack into the Soysylum's mainframe, to which Troonella obliges.

Nate finds Dr. Soyberg in his office, surrounded by fingerboys and glowies. The two begin talking, Soyberg explains that many years ago, a prophecy was discovered in the Soyble by a man named Terry Davis. While most details were lost due to the sabotage of Dr. Soystien, one thing remained clear: Admin 6 will defeated by a soyteen, who will become Admin Thrembo. This prophecy also contained Thrembo's true value, which drove Terry Davis close enough to madness to be manipulated by Admin 6. This lead to the creation of Poopson, a variant so coalish and vantablack, that gazing upon it for even a second will cause instant gender dysphoria and suicidal thoughts. While the variant was sealed by Dr. E, Admin 6 still lingers.

Nate asks how they know he's supposed to be Admin Thrembo, Soyberg answers by bringing up the GCP Dot. On the day of Nate's 16th birthday the dot turned white, something foretold in the prophecy. Soyberg worked with the CIA to cross-reference the date with the users of the sharty, and began rounding people up. Soyberg grows tired of talking, and tells Nate that he is to be placed in indefinite stasis, with the rest of the potential Admins. When Nate asks what he means by this, Soyberg merely chuckles and mutters "Nusois think only one person can be born on a certain date, kek". At that moment, a video begins playing on one of the monitors depicting Jake and the other Splinter mascots in stasis. Nate is shocked, only able to scream "DOCTOSSSSSSS WHYYYYYYY????!?!?". Soyberg responds "You just don't get it, I fucking love science!", and explains that Admin 6 promised to help the Soysylum as long as they kept Admin Thrembo contained.

The glowies take Nate away, as Soyberg begins to laugh maniacally. The aforementioned laughter is cut off, when the sound of screams start coming from outside, as RAPESON steps into the room covered in blood. Soyberg recoils in fear and stutters "R-Rapeson?! How'd y-you get here!?". Rapeson giggles, and utters "Oh... You know... A little buddy of mine said he would let me out... As long as I made sure that YOU... Were my first plaything...". Soyberg attempts to sic the fingerboys onto Rapeson, but they are quickly killed.

From outside, Nate gets up and wipes the blood off of himself, whilst the screams of Dr. Soyberg echo in the background. Meanwhile Chud has found his way the Dr. E's lab, where the owner sits at a computer. Chud drops down from the vent, and unloads into Dr. E which kills him instantly. At the same time, Troonella finishes hacking the Soysylum mainframe and disables the security surrounding Poopson's vessel. Chud celebrates the salvation of the white race, which causes Troonella to sperg out. Sensing that the jig is up, "Alicia" hangs up, and "Hitler" shifts back into his TRUE FORM.

In a fit of rage after being deceived, Chud opens fire at Admin 6. Nothing ever happens though, and Admin 6 opens mouths all over his body which swallow the bullets whole. Admin 6 explains that only someone who knows the value of Thrembo can hurt him, and that only Admin Thrembo can kill him. Fearing for the worst, Chud cries out: "Troonella, the sprinklers!" and at the same time, Nate bursts into the room to see Chud being possessed by Admin 6.

A fight ensues, with Nate rushing forwards and Choos (Chud + toos) dodging, then making a break for Poopson's vessel. The sprinklers activate and short out all electronics, but the USB containing Poopson is undamaged. Nate once again charges at Choos. This time succeeding in knocking him back, however Choos retaliates by opening his many mouths and unleashing a screech so powerful it sends Nate flying outside the room. Agent 'Plier hears this and begins walking over. Choos looks directly at Troonella through the camera, and begins sprinting towards xher. Nate gets up and chases behind him.

Not long after, 'Plier stands ahead of Choos... For approximately 5 seconds before Choos opens his gaping maws and turns him into scrap. Luckily this buys enough time for Nate to catch up, and he delivers a solid kick to Choos's head. Choos simply cracks his neck and repeats himself. He can't be harmed by anyone who doesn't know the value of Thrembo, and Chud already killed the only person in the building who did. Choos taunts Nate, saying "Y'know, maybe you aren't Admin Thrembo after all. I have all of Chuds memories, you were never really all that special in the first place. After all, you couldn't even save him!". Enraged, Nate goes in for another punch, only to be kicked in the chest by Choos, who then swiftly resumes running.

By the time Choos reaches the security office, the sprinklers are on and Troonella is long gone after fleeing into the vents. Choos destroys the sprinklers, but then he notices something. Troonella's phone is sitting under the desk! Realizing it must have fallen out when xhe climbed into the vents, Choos seizes the opportunity and inserts the USB. Just as Nate rounds the corner, Choos posts Poopson on /soy/ with the caption "fuck this shit website". But when the post finally goes through... Choos rolls Alicia. Instead of killing themselves, the jannies, frogposters, and 'teens all laugh at Choos. The image is hashfiltered, and Choos is hardware ID banned. As soon as Choos realizes what happened, the phone is thrown against the wall by Nate and shatters. Destroying the only copy of Poopson in the entire world.

Choos is beyond livid. Beyond enraged. Beyond feral. His mouths open wider than ever before and let out a pure sonic wave that pins Nate to the wall. As Choos walks closer, the pressure only builds. Nate, certain his demise is imminent, wonders if it was all worth it. "At least troonella got out" he thinks. But then he hears a voice. Chuds voice. He sees one of Choos' mouths move differently from the rest.

Nate can barely move, but still calls out "Chud, is that you?".

Chud replies "Yes".

Time seems to slow down, the screams fade into background noise, as the two best friends talk. Chud explains that because Admin 6 can see all of his memories, Chud can also see all of Admin 6's memories. Chud offers to tell Nate the value of Thrembo, on the condition that Nate "Promises him that he won't go insane". Nate agrees, and audio cuts out as we see chuds' mouth move.

Choos is now standing right in front of Nate, and the wall behind him is starting to crack. Despite the insurmountable odds, Nate uses all his strength to punch Choos in the throat. Instantly the screaming stops, Choos is left gasping for air and wondering what happened. Admin 6 realizes his hold over Chud is weakening, meaning that Nate must have discovered the value of Thrembo somehow. Choos steals his resolve, and prepares to fight Nate for real.

The battle begins, while Choos is the superior fighter technically speaking, Nates power is overwhelming and every hit deals serious damage. Eventually, Nate turns the tide of battle. He dodges a punch from Choos, and counter-attacks with a hit to the gut. With Choos' guard broken, Nate winds up a haymaker before telling Admin 6: "We're having a big party, and you're NOT invited!", before punching Choos in the face. The hit throws Admin 6 out of Chud's body, and sends him flying down the hall.

Admin 6 calls out that their fight isn't over yet, before shapeshifting into Dr. Soyberg. At that moment, a platoon of glowies and Soysylum security guards round the corner bearing heavy weaponry. Admin 6 wastes no time in ordering the troops to open fire at Nate and Chud, but before they can, a vent cover falls from the ceiling. Troonella drops down in-between the glowies and Admin 6, with a bomb strapped to xis chest. Chud realizes xis plan, and calls out: "Troonella, don't do it!". Troonella simply replies "I'd like to thank the both of you for opening my eyes, and for being my first real friends. But I don't think Troonella is a fitting name anymore, you should call me... 'Elliott'". Chud screams once more, but it falls on deaf ears.

Admin 6 and the guards start to run from Elliott, while Nate winds up once more. The bomb explodes, the glowies are pushed back, and Admin 6's disguise crumbles before he is swept off his feet and propelled towards Nate. Nate, who sheds a single tear, before throwing a punch so powerful it cleaves Admin 6 in half, splattering blood and gore everywhere.

There's a quiet moment of reflection between the two friends, who breathe a sigh of relief at the finality of their predicament.

Chud is the one to break the silence, asking: "Does this mean you're Admin Thrembo now?".

Nate replies: "Yeah, but I could always use a good moderator. Do you think you're up for it?"

Chud answers: "Of course, but... Before we overthrow the CIA do you mind if we do something for Elliott?"

Nate reassures him: "Not at all, let's go home."

We end on a scene of the two walking out into the parking lot. Doll, and the other potential Admins wait for them near the truck. Nate and Chud wave to them, the camera pans up as the credits roll.

(OPTIONAL POST CREDIT SCENE JUST LIKE MY HECKIN' MARVEL MOVIES)

We see day turn to night, before panning back down to see RAPESON standing in the parking lot, foreshadowing the sequel.

Brainstorming & Miscellany

>An underground cult/society of slopjaks starts kidnapping people and turning them brown and they are led by warrior p <Movie builds up Froot as Admin 6, just to all be a red herring for the real Admin 6, Toos.
<Froot ends up joining the team briefly, but has to leave halfway through the movie (this is done for sequel bait) >cobson & rapeson in post-credit teased as antagonists in sequel <nate's friend dan makes poopson & the 'ru come to life, nate has to stop it >warrior-p is an antihero that betrays nate >starts as his terrorist oc but later transforms into his meximutt form
<FDL instead of the CIA
>A warrior-z spinoff
<soyberg dies, leading to rapeson breaking free and becoming the sequel's villain
>The Government and soyasylum are working together to gain total power by releasing the soyjaks on america. 'apeson is sort of a special entity, not completely a failure, but something that acts on its own volition. When he is released, he goes off on his own to stalk and toy with the heroes <Nate helps break chud out of prison
>george floyd & ronnie mcNutt as minor antagonists
<soytan/samurai soytan as villain
>NAS characters (pepe, giga, gigafly) side with nate
<the trio meet up with the swede
>Sweden is under Islamic rule, headed by Warrior-Z <Doll cameo
>'plier is a hecking multifaceted complex villain where he plays both sides (hecking psychologically complex o algo) all for the pursuit of attention. sometimes assisting nate but other times betraying him because he cant stop blogposting <jake and sean as secondary antagonists >introduce jartycuck before they arrive at the soyasylum >all of the nate derivatives(jake, Dan, Lars, Sean,ect.), "soyteens" if you will, are being kidnapped by soyberg to see if they are admin thrembo. He has since been experimenting on them, possibly to artificaly turn them into a weakened admin thrembo? Maybe to do this he is exposing them to poopson? Anyways, earlier in the film, nate comes upon jartycuck and recognizes him, and they fight. Later on he sees them in the lab, something more gruesome then just stasis tubes, like hung up on ceiling hooks like meat slabs. Cue "no, I recognize these guys- what are you doing with them...", Soyberg explains what i just did, along with his whole monologue of why nates there. Maybe at some point one of the protags releases them and they start slaughtering jannies before being put down themselves, because their existance is sufferering
